P. Morgan, were present.

Was Urged to Reconsider. The brief announcement of Mr. Meilen's proposed retirement couched in less than two score words, was the only official statement issued. None of the directors would supplement it by much as a word and Mr. Mellen steadfastly denied himself to all interviewers.

It is understood that some of the more prominent members of the board earnestly urged Mr. Mellen to reconsider his action, but apparently with-out avail. In railroad and financial circles Mr. Mellen's decision will excite no surprise. In fact, during the day in Wall street and elsewhere it was generally understood that the day rould mark virtually the end of the Mellen administration

Mellen President Since 1903. Charles Sanger Mellen, whose recent management of the New Haven foad has given rise to considerable criticism, became president of that system in October of 1903, resigning from the presidency of the Northern Pa-cific rallway, a Hill road, at the re-Morgan, who regarded Mr. Mellen as the man best live here but they were in New York fitted to reorganize the more or less today, having attended the meeting chaotic transportation lines of the New | there during the afternoon.

Mr. Mellen's immediate predecessor, John M. Hall, had managed the road with all the conservatism which marked the administration of corporate affairs, especially in New England, during the previous decade. Mr. Meilen's advent was the signal, however, for a vast scheme of consolidation, embracing not only the Boston and Maine and Maine Central railroads, but all the leading steamship lines between this point and Boston and intermediate in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Harmshire Steady Decline in New Haven Stock. The capitalization of the New Haven system increased enormously under the continuous outlays accruing from the acquisitions, which later included the New York, Westchester and Coston railroad. Other acquisitions which helped to increase the New Haven's burden were the New York, Ontarlo and Western and the Rutland (Vermont) railroads.

The steady decline of New Haven chares in the local and Boston stock markets has been a matter of comment for several years. New Haven shares, which for many years sold at and above 200, and for a long period paid dividends at the rate of eight per recently sold under par in antleipation of a cut in the dividend, which was reduced to six per cent. Committee of Stockholders Organize. Alleged mismanagement of the New Haven road and several serious wrecks costing many lives, finally resulted in definite action and a committee of New England stockholders, led by George von L. Meyer, former secretary the navy, was organized to make an investigation of the road's affairs. That committee's experts are now at work on the company's books, but its report may not be known for several

It was expected that the New Haven directors would today take up the findings and recommendations of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which recently scored the management, not only for its methods of operation, but for its financial methods as well. According to Mr. Mellen's reconsideration of however, all these matters was deferred. It is known that an influential factor in the board favors the sale of the

Efforts To Have Complaints Of The Railroads Arbitrated Are acterized - Statement Of Officials

New York, July 17.—The 80,000 train-nen and conductors who threaten a trike against the eastern railroads will not agree under any circumstances to have the roads' grievances arbi-trated at the same time as the men's smands for better wages under the Newlands amendment to the Erdman act, according to a statement issued tonight by W. G. Lee, and A. B. Gar-retson, presidents respectively of the rainmen's and conductors' brother

Mr. Lee, in a verbal statement sup-plementing the formal one, declared that if the railroads persist in their present stand to have their own griev. ances arbitrated, it is absolutely certain that a strike will follow. A Deadlock Created.

The formal statement of the trainen was sent as a letter to Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of managers. It was prepared as a result of a meeting of the trainmen's committee of 100 held today to consider the announcements of the roads ast night that they intend to have 'all questions" incorporated in the greement to arbitrate. The employes' position as announced tonight brings about a deadlock. The roads, however, while insisting that their demand is an equitable one, have agreement to meet Seth Low, president of the National Civic association. who has interested himself in the men's behalf and hear his presentatations of his reasons of why the railoads should yield the point. Copies of Letter Sent to Congresamen. Copies of the letter that the trainmen submitted to the roads tonight were mailed to President Wilson, ev-ery member of the senate and the house and to all the conferees, at the meeting attended by the president. After giving a resume of the controversy the letter emphasizes that when the railroads consented to join the White House conference the only matter of dispute pending was the trainmen's wage demand. In this connection the letter points out that in practically all existing agreements between roads and men there is a provision that if either side desires an amendment of a regulation, thirty days notice to the other side is required. In asking arbitration affecting several agreements now in force the railroads did not give such notice, the train-men set forth. Strike Instead of Arbitration. The employes said tonight that they will wait only for the senate's confirmation of the president's appointments today before insisting upon a conference forthwith at which they will present their wage demand. If Allan J. > COMMISSIONERS NAMED. William L. Chambers Selected for the First Position.

Washington, July 17.- President Wilson late today selected William L. Chambers, of the District of Columbia to be commissioner of mediation and conciliation, under the Newlands act. and G. W. W. Hanger, as his assistant. Their names will be sent to the senate tomorrow. The other two mempers of the new board will be Judge Martin Knapp of the United States commerce court and Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor. Immediate confirmation of the president's nomination is expected, democrats and republicans in both houses of congress joined hands Tuesday to put through promptly the Newlands bill with the hope of averting the threatened strike of 80,000 conductors and trainmen on eastern railroads. The roads and their employes had agreed to submit their wage dispute to the new board of mediation and concil-Judge Chambers was at one time chief justice of the International court at Samoa, and since 1901 has been a member of the Spanish treaty claims commission. In 1901 he was selected as a third arbitrator of the contro-men and Enginemen. He was selected for this task by Dr. Charles P. Nell, then commissioner of labor, and Martin A. Knapp, then chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who were the other two mediators under the Erdman act.

Mr. Hanger, who is to be assistant to Judge Chambers, is chief statistician of the bureau of labor statistics and acting head of the bureau since the resignation of Dr. Nefil. He has been objet statistician of the bureau since Judgo Knapp is presiding judge of the United States commerce court and for a long time has been identified with arbitration movements on the part of the government. Since the creation of the new board was concertain to be one of the members.
